What fees and commissions are payable for services?

Long Burroughs has spent many years forming relationships with local and international insurance providers. The benefits of these relationships are seen every day by providing our clients choice of insurer, competitive pricing and a variety of coverage options, policy support, and claim handling services.

Long Burroughs receives commission from insurance companies from whom you purchase products. We use these commissions to pay our employee salaries, and company operating costs including the use of our IT systems, and Compliance requirements. The amount of commission received varies as it is calculated as a percentage of the insurance premium charged but can typically range from anywhere between 10% - 30% of the insurer premium.

Long Burroughs may charge you one of the following fees, in addition to the commission we receive:

- Adviser/Broker Fee | This is an additional adviser fee that is directly reflected by the level of advice or service associated with managing your insurance programme. This can include policy upkeep, claims handling services, arranging new policies, or altering or cancelling your general insurance policies.

- Administrative Fee | For general insurance placements, Long Burroughs Limited may also charge an administration fee for processing insurance premiums and issuing documentation. This is purely an administrative fee relating to processing and IT services. If a fee is to be charged, you will be advised at the time the financial advice is provided.

You are entitled to know how and what we will charge for our services and what other benefits we receive.

If we refer you to a premium funder with whom you enter into a premium funding arrangement with, Long Burroughs may receive a commission of between 0% and 2% of the amount you borrow.

Please refer to our publicly available disclosure information on our website here, or, contact me directly for more information about the fees and commissions we collect.

Long Burroughs Limited and your Financial Adviser may receive indirect benefits from insurers and premium funders such as business lunches, tickets to sporting and/or cultural events or corporate promotional merchandise.

We recognise that the above commissions and incentives may create conflicts of interests for Long Burroughs and your financial adviser. To manage these conflicts, our financial advisers follow an advice process that ensures our recommendations are made based on your financial goals and circumstances. Your Financial Adviser undergoes specialist training on how to manage conflicts of interest. Long Burroughs Limited undertakes internal Audits of your Financial Adviser and also annual audits of our conflicts of interest compliance framework.
